Youths Arrested On Drug Charges

Two Norwood youths were arrested on drug charges at the Junior/Senior High School last week.

Kevin Kampen, 17, and William Fitzgerald, also 17, were charged with possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, possession of marijuana and possession of alcohol, police reported. They were arraigned at Quincy District Court Wednesday morning. The case was continued to June 14.

Patrolman Brian Cogill received a call at noon on Tuesday from the high school concerning youths in a car cruising around the school grounds, Cohasset Police said. Cogill investigated and was informed by students in the front of the school that a white Chevrolet Camaro had traveled around the east side of the building.

Cogill reported that he saw two girls get out of the car in question. He pursued the vehicle and signalled for it to stop. When he approached the car he observed two open bottles of beer in the front seat, he said.

As the operator was showing his license and registration, Cogill said a pipe fell to the floor of the car. He then place both youths under arrest for transporting alcoholic beverages and informed them of their rights.

Cogill said he further observed a cellophane bag in the car containing a brown substance. He radioed to headquarters for a backup unit. When Patrolman David Pomarico arrived, he placed both subjects into his cruiser.

Cogill went to the Vice Principal, Gino DiGerolamo's office, and asked to speak to the girls, both juveniles, he had seen leaving the car. One girl had been on her way to work and was not at the school. The other came to the office, Cogill said.

The latter alleged that the car operator had asked her to buy marijuana. She was reportedly in the process of telling the youth she didn't have any money to purchase the marijuana when she saw the cruiser arrive and she left.

Cogill returned to where Patrolman Pomarico was waiting with the youths. He asked the operator for his car keys, he said, and opened the glove compartment of the Chevrolet where he found nine cellophane bags containing what appeared to be marijuana and some pills. Cogill gave the evidence to Patrolman Pomarico who then took it and the subjects to the station. A wrecker was called to remove the youth's vehicle.

Patrolman Pomarico took the substances to the Forest Hill labs division of the Food and Drug Administration for analysis. Reports on the substances haven't yet been received by Cohasset Police.

DiGerolamo said that the parents of the girls involved in the incident had been notified. The student who had been questioned by Patrolman Cogill, he said, received disciplinary action in a two-day detention.

The vice principal further commented that the school has a need for more grounds security. The administration has alerted the gym teachers, he said, to be aware of suspicious activity outside and around the school as they often traverse that area going back and forth from the playing fields.

Open House For Scouts

Cohasset Girl Scouts and non-Scouts are invited to attend an Open House at Blue Hill Girl Scout camps Saturday, May 19.

Camp Dorothy Carlton for girls entering grades 2-6 is located on Long Pond in Plymouth, and Camp Favorite for girls entering grades 7-12 is in Brewster on Cape Cod.

Each camp will be open from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. and families are invited to come, bring a picnic, tour the camp and ask questions. Guides and staff will be present at both camps to be of assistance.

For more information and directions to the camps, please call the Council Service Center at 472-5960.

Annual Spring Flea Market

The Cohasset Historical Society will hold its annual Spring Flea Market on the grounds of the Lothrop House at 14 Summer St. Saturday, May 19, from 9 to 2.

Offered for sale will be a wide array of donations to the Historical Society over the winter, including a variety of bric-a-brac and collectibles, furniture, cookware, books, jewelry and knick-knacks. In addition to the material assembled by the Historical Society, a number of dealers will offer their specialty items. Refreshments will be available.

Proceeds of the sale will go to the Historical Society to help support the operation of its three Village Museums and other historical enterprises.

LAUGELLE COMPLAINS

Selectman Rocco Laugelle complained for the third week in a row about the junk, paper and debris he finds cluttering the back of stores at Cushing Plaza.

Selectman Arthur Clark said that he has mentioned the problem to Fire Chief Charles Piepenbrink, but suggested that the Board of Health and the Building Inspector also be notified.
